

Braves Open Spring Training Home Schedule at Disney

After opening their 2018 spring training schedule with three consecutive road games, the Atlanta Braves have begun their home campaign at Champion Stadium at ESPN Wide World of Sports Complex.

Atlanta's young but impressive lineup contains several seasoned veterans and a bevy of talented newcomers, so watching this team this spring should be an exciting proposition for Braves fans.

Shortstop Dansby Swanson got off to a good start, belting the club's first home run of the spring off Nationals ace and three-time Cy Young Award winner Max Scherzer in a 9-3 loss.

Atlanta's spring training home schedule is an attractive one with games against perennial MLB playoff clubs like the St. Louis Cardinals (March 17), the vaunted New York Yankees (March 9, 24) and the 2017 World Series Champion Houston Astros (March 8).

Disney character appearances and special moments such as kids running the bases after every game are some of the in-game entertainment opportunities that make Braves spring training at Disney a unique experience.

Braves fans can purchase individual spring training game tickets at www.espnwwos.com/braves, through Ticketmaster outlets (800-745-3000) and at ESPN Wide World of Sports Complex Box Office. Tickets range from $15 (general admission berm seating in left field) to $59 (lower level reserved seats).
